

RESTORING CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNANCE ACT OF COLORADO

- (1) Notwithstanding any treaty, federal, state, or local law or authority, enacted or claimed, including, but not limited to, an authorization for use of military force, national defense authorization act, or any similar law or authority enacted or claimed by Congress or the Office of the President, it is unlawful for any person to:
  - a. arrest or capture any person in Colorado, or citizen of Colorado within the United States, with the intent of “detention under the law of war,” or
  - b. actually subject a person in Colorado to “disposition under the law of war,” or
  - c. execute any person in Colorado, or citizen of Colorado within the United States, without judicial sentencing after trial and conviction in a court ordained and established under Article III of the United States Constitution, or Constitution of Colorado.
- (2) Section (1) does not apply to “cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger.”
- (3) For the purposes of this Act, the terms “arrest,” “capture,” “detention under the law of war,” “disposition under the law of war,” and “law of war” are used in the same sense and shall have the same meaning as such terms have in the 2012 NDAA, Section 1021(c).
- (4) It is the determination of the State of Colorado that Colorado is not a “battlefield” subject to the “laws of war,” and that neither Congress nor the President can constitutionally authorize the detention and/or disposition of any person in Colorado, or citizen of Colorado within the United States “under the law of war” who is not serving “in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger.”
- (5) Any person in violation of this act shall be prosecuted under the Colorado Criminal Code relating to, but not limited to, assault, battery, kidnapping, and/or murder, as applicable.
